EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

Financial Matters in New York.

NEW YORK, Sept 25—There has been no panic in Wall street to-day but there was quite a feeling of depression at the action of the Government in suspending its bond purchases. Even if it is but temporary it creates intense disappointment. Money is [illegible]. Banks to-day in the Clearing House Association are pooling their legal tender notes as provided by yesterday's resolutions. One or two which stand exceptionally strong refused at first to put their legal tenders in but concluded to do so rather than be expelled from the Association. Loan certificates issued by the Clearing House to-day to the extent of $37,000,000 (greenbacks are still worth a premium and sales were made to-day all the way from one to three and a half per cent for certified checks. A dead lock in foreign exchange shows the great point of danger as it involves not only our foreign trade but every department of domestic trade. Some signs of encouragement are that the banks are gaining in deposits and that the machinery for going through the crisis is working satisfactory. Orders from the interior to purchase stock at the present low prices are increasing and responsible firms have traded among themselves to-day to quite an extent. A number of the Western railroads show largely increased earnings for the past two weeks. Howes & Macey have resolved to open their doors, and solicit special deposits on trust. Their former obligations are to be paid as fast as they can realize on their securities.

During an examination this forenoon of the large safe of the Union Trust Company a box belonging to a missing Secretary was opened and found to contain $25,000 in U S bonds which was supposed to have been lost.

NEW YORK, Sept 25—Henry Clews & Co, and Howes & Macey have received large deposits which were on the way at the time of their suspension. These amounts have been accredited to customers and held subject to their order.

NEW YORK, Sept 26—The actual disbursement of greenbacks for the purchase of bonds by the Sub-Treasury since Saturday was thirteen millions.

Suspension of Georgia Banks.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Sept. 25—The National Exchange Bank, Merchants' and Planters' National Bank of Augusta, and the Planters Loan and Savings Bank have suspended. The run on the banks has been heavy, especially this morning.

ATLANTA (Ga.), Sept. 25—The dollar savings bank suspended to-day.

Cotton is coming in freely but there is no money to move it.

Suspension in Selma, Alabama.

SELMA, Ala, Sept. 25—The Selma Savings Bank suspended to-day. The assets are believed to be ample to meet all liabilities so as to save the capital stock nearly entire.

Other Suspensions.

NEWARK (N J), Sept. 25—The State Bank of New Jersey suspended to-day. This bank is crippled by the irregularities of Appleton, cashier.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26—It is just announced that the Union National Second National and Manufacturers National Banks have suspended. A notice on the door of the former says the bank has abundant securities, but is compelled to suspend payment on account of the lack of currency, and until it may be able to realize. Nothing has been lost from the failures, and depositors will be made safe. The Cook County City National and Bank of Commerce have followed the example of the Union National, and closed their doors. There was a run for an hour on the Corn Exchange Bank, but as everything was paid the run soon stopped. Some who drew have redeposited. Other National banks are paying regularly.

TOLEDO, O, Sept 26—The failure of the banking house of Krause & Smith is announced this morning. An assignment having been made after banking hours yesterday.

Condition of Savannah Banks.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 25—The run on the Savannah Bank and Trust Company has ceased. That on the Bank of Georgia continued up to the hour of closing. Both are thought to be fully able to meet all demands. Other banks are proceeding as usual and the excitement is diminishing.

Matters in Richmond.

RICHMOND, Va. Sept 25—The panic has entirely subsided. There is no visible excitement on the streets. Bank officers this morning unanimously resolved to adopt the system of issuing loan certificates as now in operation in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore so as to give relief to the community.

The reported failure of McIlvain & Co of Petersburg, has been contradicted.

Action of New Orleans Bankers.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept 25—At a meeting this morning of all Bank Presidents in this city, except two, it was resolved to pay no checks for more than one hundred dollars all larger checks to be certified. This arrangement is to continue for thirty days.

Action of Nashville National Banks.

NASHVILLE, Sept 26—The National Banks of this city yesterday resolved to suspend payment in currency on all balances exceeding $[illegible] and the Board of Trade indorsed this action.

Elsewhere.

ST LOUIS, Sept 25—The Clearing House Association of this city to-day adopted the plan already adopted by the banks of New York, Chicago, Cincinnati, Baltimore and other cities in reference to currency payments.

CHICAGO Sept 25—All reports from the principal cities outside of Chicago and all cities in Iowa concur in the statement that there is no financial distress among banks or people and the action of the Chicago banks in stopping the payment of large balances in currency, is almost unanimously indorsed.

A Big Puff for the Chicago Exposition.

CHICAGO, Sept 25—The Industrial Exposition opened to-night in the magnificent building erected on Lake Park for its use. Not less than twenty thousand people are in attendance. The exhibition exceeded the expectation of all, the space in the building, which is 800 feet long by 200 feet wide being filled with products of nature and art from all parts of the country.

A Balloonist Falls 1,000 Feet

A terrible accident occurred at Wabella Iowa to-day. A hot air balloon caught fire while a balloonist named Bailey was hanging by his hands in mid air to a trapeze attached to the balloon and he was precipitated from an altitude of 1,000 feet to the ground crushing every bone in his body.

San Francisco Cadets on their Way Home.

NEW YORK, Sept 26—The San Francisco Cadets left Boston yesterday for home. They sailed on the steamer Colima for San Francisco.

Arrival in New York of Wilkie Collins

Wilkie Collins is among the arrivals from Europe yesterday.

WASHINGTON CITY

Result of a Conference at Washington.

WASHINGTON Sept [illegible]—A conference was held to-day at the Treasury Department between the Secretary of the Treasury, Assistant Secretary Sawyer and Attorney General Williams lasting nearly two hours at which there was a full and complete exchange of views on the prevailing financial troubles and the propriety of further action by the Government. It seems certain that a determination was reached and concurred in by all present that the Government should not use any portion of the legal tender reserve for the purchase of additional bonds although this reserve may be temporarily encroached upon for the legitimate wants of the Government but then not to any great extent, and not with any view to inflate the currency. The present understanding is that the Department believes it has helped bankers as far as public security and consistency will admit. So at present there is no intention of issuing additional instructions for bond purchases.

Another Failure

WASHINGTON, Sept [illegible]—[illegible] Washington & Co [illegible] the banking house [illegible] this morning [illegible] compelled to suspend payment for the present.

Conkling Nominated for Chief Justice

WASHINGTON, Sept 26—A telegram says the President has tendered the office of Chief Justice to Senator Conkling, and that the Senator will accept.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

In a Fix

MADRID, Sept [illegible]—It is expected that the bombardment of Cartagena will [illegible] on Saturday or Sunday. The insurgent men of war in the harbor are unable to move, their engineers refusing to serve longer.

LONDON, Sept [illegible]—The Pall Mall Gazette in an article on the American [illegible] says there is nothing radically unsound in the [illegible] United States. The great mass of capitalists are not affected by the trouble in New York.

The Daily News remarks that in the absence of a system of long credits the materials for panic among American trading houses do not exist. It believes the worst is over.

It is said that bullion to the amount of £500,000 will be withdrawn from bank to be sent to America by next Saturday's steamer.

ARIZONA.

SAN DIEGO, Sept 26—The Tucson Citizen of Sept 20th says:

Thomas McGinnis private in Co. C 23d Infantry, was crushed and killed by a falling shed at Camp McDowell.

Robert Coyle who was wounded by Apaches on August 29th died Sept 11th.

Five men prospecting in the Pinal mountains were attacked by Apaches. Wm Sampson was killed at the first fire. Wm Copeland was wounded slightly. It is believed that one Indian was killed. The rest were routed.

The P[illegible] are returning to their winter quarters east of Tucson.

Leszinsky & Co are smelting copper on the Francisco river. They have loaded [illegible] teams with copper, carrying about [illegible] tons.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 26—It will probably take a month to repair the Costa Rica. Most of the damage to the plates on her bottom was done when the vessel was coming off.

The detectives sent out for Irving the Nathan murderer, arrived in this city last night.

The fine imposed on Capt C M Patterson of the bark Edward James for carrying more Chinese passengers than the law allows has been remitted by the U S Treasurer.

A Chinaman was found on a sand lot on Webster street a few days since, wounded and nearly dead. He had tried to cut his throat, several months since, in the same manner and had tried to hang himself but was cut down. He will probably recover from his present injuries.

It is estimated that the repairs to the Costa Rica will cost $15,000.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 26—Wm Smith a kleptomaniac, was committed to the Stockton asylum to-day.

The Commissioners found that Hugh McMenomy, the slayer of Richard Hogan, is not insane, and he was remanded to jail.

The bankers of this city are still pursuing a cautious policy strengthening themselves for the situation. Much interest is felt in the test which next Monday will give the money market as that is general collection day.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

Races at Albany

ALBANY Sept 26—The fourth day of the Linn County Fair opened lively with an increased attendance. The principal event of to-day was for trials of speed. At 1 30 P M, a running race for Oregon raised horses best 2 in 3, mile heats. [illegible] entered by C J Baskett, Bill Earl by Geo Hughes, Vallandigham by E B Findley. Vallandigham won the first and second heats. Time [illegible] and 1 [illegible]. Pacing race at [illegible] P M best 2 in [illegible] mile heats. Shoo Fly entered by S Montgomery, General by E B Acker, [illegible] by [illegible] Parton. [illegible] won the first heat. Time 2 40½, and Shoo Fly second and third heats. Time 2 44½ and 2 40. On the first heat General was thrown out of the race.

TAKING DOWN THE CHIVALRY.—An [illegible] paper relates the story of a chalking six foot customer who a few days ago appeared on the street in that city causing the timid to tremble and the Union loving to quake by reason of loud mouthings on his part in relation to the war. He was with Stonewall Jackson had faced the cannon's mouth and with his good right hand had used his sabre and mowed down the Yankees as the farmer does the grass. He had killed more Yankees than [illegible] and was [illegible] Democrat and [illegible] York [illegible] [illegible] The Yankee-killer remarked at every kick "All right, sir all right just let go of me and I'll go." He went.

LINN COUNTY FAIR

ALBANY Sept [illegible] 1873.

[illegible]

The Superintendent of the different classes [illegible]

[illegible]

Caused [illegible] excitement and more betting among men of the turf than any race that has been run. The match was for a purse of $500 three in five mile heats free for all. 1st horse $275 2d horse $150 and 3d horse $75—three to enter and two to go. The entries were Tom Merry by Pennell, Buckskin by Ford and Lodi by Basket. In drawing for position Buckskin won the inside and Lodi ran second Tom Merry getting the outside. The first heat was won by the Lodi filly, time 1 51½. Buckskin came in second and Tom Merry brought up the rear. Tom had been the favorite at the pool stand up to this time selling three to one higher than Lodi and two to one ahead of Buckskin. Lodi's success in the first heat changed the current of opinion somewhat but still the friends of Tom stood by their favorite though with ardor somewhat abated while Lodi's backers became more sanguine of final success. The horses were given twenty minutes to get their wind at the expiration of which time the Judges called them up for the

SECOND HEAT

The horses were let off with a flying start and Tom Merry led and seemed to be determined to win this heat at all hazards. The horse led some distance until reaching the home stretch when the filly closed up on her competitor and passed under the wire only a few feet behind. The Judges declared it Lodi's heat time 1 54. Buckskin still came in behind. The spirit manifested by Lodi and the ease with which she ran—seeming as calm as an old plow horse while her competitors were very restive—inspired the crowd in her favor and bets were made even that she would come off victor. The usual time was allowed for rest and then the riders were ordered to mount for the

THIRD HEAT

Tom Merry again won time 1 53½. In this heat horses held about the same positions throughout that they did during the second. Lodi pressed Tom from the start and showed no signs of exhaustion. It was evident that her rider held her and had determined to stake all on winning the last two heats depending on her bottom which she had now convinced all that she possessed to a remarkable degree. When the was announced excitement ran high and betting was brisk. Tom Merry's friends were still firm in the belief that their horse's chances were best, and continued to back their judgment with their cash, often taking bets of two to one. Another excellent start, and the horses were off. This time the struggle was determined. Merry having won two heats seemed anxious to close the contest without having to try another heat and he struggled bravely to do so but his wiry little competitor dashed past him and came in ahead. Time, 1 51. The

FIFTH AND LAST HEAT

Was regularly ordered and all three horses came to the scratch and were let off with an even start. The excitement among the spectators had become intense as the horses neared the home stretch running neck and neck. The result appeared uncertain until within two hundred yards of the stand Lodi gracefully and with apparent ease dashed past Tom Merry and came in two or three lengths ahead amid a perfect storm of applause from the excited spectators.

[illegible] 50

THE SECOND RACE

Of the day became the order. This was a trotting match 2 in 3 mile heats for horses that never beat 3 minutes. Purse $200 first horse $100 second horse $60 third horse $40. Three horses were entered Meteor, Last Portland Belle and Rose. Meteor won in two straight heats distancing Rose on the first heat.

There was any amount of scrub racing in the evening, but none worthy of special mention.

This morning the grounds are crowded and visitors are still coming. To day will be the great day of the Fair. The plowing match is now going on in front of the stands.

THE PAVILION

Now presents a better appearance than hitherto reported. To-morrow's report will be devoted more particularly to this department and the agricultural articles on exhibition.

MISCELLANEOUS

Wilson's Circus is being well patronized as is the Rosedale Troupe and Reed's [illegible] all of which hold forth nightly in town.

Many notables are in attendance to-day including both of the candidates for Congress.

[illegible]

And this suggests a joke on our Hiram which is worth telling. He is here distributing his speech which has been printed in pamphlet form. He importuned every one he met to take a copy and be sure and read it. [illegible] a verdant looking Webfoot to whom he presented one of his speeches with the remark "take this." The fellow had been bored by patent medicine advertisers and other itinerant horrors until he had become passive and had concluded to purchase everything offered him as the best way to escape a continual boring. Taking our candidate for one of the class described the man took His speech and thrusting his hand into his pocket asked innocently "How much is it?" [illegible] explained and the crowd laughed.

LETTER FROM TACOMA

TACOMA Sept [illegible] 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The Tacoma people were terribly scared last week by the rumor that the [illegible] banking house of Jay Cooke & Co had failed and when the rumor [illegible] [illegible] no loss by the failure of Jay Cooke & Co and to the great rejoicing of the people of Tacoma, they will continue in business as before.

[illegible] is included in the arrangement.

The ship Shirley arrived from San Francisco [illegible] and had no doubt but what she was lost.

In my last I referred to the action of Capt Phelps of the Saranac in endeavoring to find anchorage in a part of the bay which he ought to have known was the deepest. Every one knew that he did it to cast a slur on Tacoma for the benefit of Seattle but it was not quite so apparent until he hastened to the same day write a letter to one of his old friends at Seattle informing him that Tacoma could never be the terminus of the N P R R and that Seattle was bound to be the great commercial center on Puget Sound and that he was at liberty to make any use he pleased of the letter.

We are going to start a jewelry store here before the next war steamer comes along so that we may be able to furnish "lead enough for them to anchor with."

The Tribune of this evening goes after him thusly:

[illegible]

Captain Phelps of the U S flagship Saranac [illegible] He probably was expected to serve the people here [illegible]

The following extracts will give a good idea of the nature of the letter which he hastened to write to his Seattle friends, almost before he had got out of sight of Tacoma:

"The grand Railroad Terminus of the N P R R will never in my opinion be at Tacoma. The place has neither anchorage nor harbor it is exposed to a long reach of northerly winds, and not one thing to recommend it. The officers of the ship from Admiral down do not take stock in it.

You are at liberty to use this information over my signature in any way to the advantage of Seattle which place in time must from force of circumstances and nature be the grand City of Puget Sound."

The following cards are supposed to be pretty good offsets to the above though they don't come from a brass buttoned official:

TACOMA W T Sept 23 1873

EDITOR PACIFIC TRIBUNE: Dear Sir: Having been engaged for twenty months in the trade between the ports of Tacoma and San Francisco commanding the large ship Shirley in which I have made more than one dozen voyages between the above named ports, I desire to bear testimony that the statement of Captain Phelps, U S Navy commanding the war vessel Saranac to the effect that no anchorage could be found in this harbor is at variance with the facts. I can and have anchored ships here in eighteen fathoms, good holding ground and ample room between the anchorage and shore for swinging with the tide and I also certify that the harbor of Tacoma is well sheltered from all winds.

CHAS MATHEWS
Master ship Shirley

I [illegible] O'Hearne first officer of the ship Shirley hereby certify that I have been running in the above named trade between San Francisco and Tacoma W T for the past three years much of the time as officer of the ship [illegible] 1300 tons burthen or the same size as the Shirley and have frequently anchored in eighteen fathoms with good bottom protection from all winds and entire safety with ample swinging room with [illegible] fathoms scope of chain.

PATRICK O'HEARNE

Notwithstanding this broadside from the Saranac we are still unwilling to swap lots with Seattle unless we get big boot as some of us labor under the delusion that we have personally sounded the bay and found good anchorage enough for all the vessels that are ever likely to anchor in Puget Sound at one time. As to the safety there is far more chance that a vessel will be damaged by the wind blowing her ashore than if she was anchored in the Willamette river. The Captain overdid it a little.

[illegible]

MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICANISM

The loyalty of Massachusetts to the principles of the Republican party in the advocacy of which her statesmen were the pioneers and in devotion to which she has been unfaltering through peace and through peril is steadfast yet. The issue of the great convention held this week proclaims it. Not against Republicanism but against the perversions and corruptions of Republicanism are her people aroused. Whoever fails to read the lesson aright may blame his own blindness. The people of Massachusetts cling to the Republican party for its unmatched services to the country. They will continue to do so while it promises a continuance of like services. When it falls from its high estate and proves false to its promises the people of Massachusetts will love it no more. They know that the organization called a party is not an end in itself but only the convenient instrument for accomplishing a purpose and that it is worthy or unworthy in the proportion of its serviceableness. However it may be elsewhere, here patriotism is first and party second. The effort to reverse this order no matter by whom made, will fail and it will fail because the moment it shall appear to have succeeded the Republican party will be deprived of its strength. The demagogue's victory will be a barren one. The vast majority of those who act with the party for the sake of the principles it has represented and still represents will care for it no longer except as [illegible]

The meaning of the emphatic protest just witnessed against an attempt to make the party organization [illegible] the worst purpose is not that the citizens of Massachusetts care little for Republicanism but that they care a great deal. To them Republicanism still means [illegible] unselfish devotion to the republic, fidelity in every public trust, the freedom of the citizen, the supremacy of the law, justice, honor and truth. [illegible] and whose friends are now claiming that [illegible]

The Republicans of Massachusetts have proved their devotion to Republicanism by extraordinary service. They have done their duty. Their voice is a sincere one. Will others take up the work? Will the administration [illegible] its significance? We shall wait with anxiety for the response. If the Republican party is to be saved the work of reformation must begin at once and be prosecuted in earnest. There has been somewhat too much of [illegible]. The departures from the line of duty are too numerous and too notorious. We hold fast now as ever to the principles of Republicanism and intend to support them in the future not less strenuously than we have supported them in the past. The party through which these principles find expression can only be imperiled by those who would use it corruptly. If the party which has heretofore represented these principles to the country is to become the representative of a policy degrading corrupting, and selfish, if the test of fealty to it is to be non resistance to the conspiracies of bad men, if the immense forces of the public patronage are to be perverted systematically and without rebuke to the support of ambitious claimants, if the fair expression of the sentiment of Republicans is to be prevented by intimidation, if its caucuses are to be controlled by gangs of hired enemies and if its conventions invite the presence of brawling candidates advocating their own cause without modesty and reviling whoever dissents from their estimate of themselves without respect for truth or decorum, it need have no expectation of being long recognized as the party of Republicanism.

TO THE VOTERS OF OREGON

Having been nominated by the Republican State Convention of this State as the candidate of the Republican party for Representative in Congress and not being by profession a public speaker I take this method of presenting briefly to the voters of this State whose suffrages I respectfully solicit my views in reference to the more important questions which, in my judgment should attract the attention and secure the earnest labors of a Representative in Congress from Oregon.

Politically I am a Republican. I believe in the principles of the Republican party and have faith in its organization. I have resided in Oregon for the past twenty years and have devoted myself during that period to the business of farming and merchandising and I believe I have a good understanding of the wants of the people. Should I be elected, I shall among other things not enumerated devote my energies especially to aid all in my power to secure the following results:

First—Appropriations for the improvement of the Willamette river from its mouth to Springfield in Lane county. I have no doubt, from my knowledge of this river that with a reasonable amount of outlay, it can be rendered easy of navigation this distance for a greater portion of the year. This in my judgment, is an improvement demanded by the farming and producing interests of the Willamette Valley.

Second—The extension of the West Side or Oregon Central Railroad from its present terminus at St. Joe to Junction City, in Lane county.

Third—The extension of the Oregon and California railroad from its present terminus at Roseburg southerly through the Rogue River Valley to connect with the California and Oregon railroad.

Fourth—The building of a Railroad from Corvallis to Yaquina Bay.

Fifth—The building of a Canal and Locks around the Cascades of the Columbia river, and appropriations for dredging the bars of the Columbia river.

Sixth—The building of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake railroad. This enterprise I regard as all important to the prosperity of our State.

Seventh—A shelter or harbor for ships at Port Orford, or at the most suitable point in that vicinity.

In addition to these measures which to my mind are paramount I should aim to labor faithfully in a modest way, for the true interests of the whole people.

I am willing to pledge myself, if elected, not to do any of the following:

First—I will not take up the time of Congress with long windy speeches nor the time of Committees with tales or anecdotes.

Second—I will not vote for or take back pay.

Third—I will not vote for nor use my influence directly or indirectly to advance the interests of any Railroad Company, Steamship or Steamboat Company or Capitalist, at the expense of the people, or any of them nor unless in my judgment a general good is to result to the masses of the people.

Fourth—I will not be any man's man but will strive to be independent and free from all alliances that would prevent my laboring for the general good of the whole State.

In reference to Indian affairs, I am opposed, and always have been to giving the public domain to Indians at the rate of thousands of acres per head, while white men who brave the dangers of pioneer life, and build up our civilization are restricted to a limited number of acres and compelled to pay for them either in money or in years of toil. I have always held to the opinion that the Government was too liberal in the former case and not liberal enough in the latter—that an unjust discrimination is made in favor of the Indians and against the whites. I believe that peaceable Indians should receive the encouragement and protection of law, that every reasonable effort should be made on the part of the Government to teach them the arts of civilization and to enable them to take care of themselves. And I believe that Indian outlaws and marauders should on conviction, suffer the extreme penalty of the law at the end of the rope.

I believe the laborer is worthy of his hire, that whatever tends to degrade labor degrades our civilization and throws an obstruction in the way of our prosperity. I am opposed, therefore to the present Coolie system where by thousands of Chinese are annually brought to our shores as mere serfs, and employed at nominal wages and I am in favor of its suppression by Congressional enactments under severe penalties and while I would advocate any measure tending to secure to this coast the commerce of China and Japan I would never be willing to do it at the expense of flooding this country with a population whose presence among us can but degrade labor, keep back European immigration and retard our prosperity as a State.

The present wealth of Oregon is in its agriculture. Every additional facility for marketing our grain will advance our prosperity. To this end I am in favor of all measures calculated to increase our facilities for transportation. I have this year raised twelve thousand bushels of grain and expect to do so annually hereafter. And self interest if uninfluenced by no higher considerations would lead me to a [illegible] producers interest in the great question of transportation.

I am in favor of [illegible] our State Agricultural College [illegible] and that that institution may be [illegible]

Some objection [illegible] the Albany Convention [illegible] Mr Mitchell [illegible] the Republican party [illegible] the platform adopted by the Convention. These make up the only issues in the present campaign.

Having said thus much to the voters of the State I shall in the name and in behalf of the Republican party of the State of Oregon go forth as a standard bearer in the present contest believing, as I firmly do that every true Republican in the State will on the 13th of October vote for your humble servant and thus preserve intact the organization of the Republican party and aid in perpetuating its principles. Very respectfully,

HIRAM SMITH

The Montanian tells an incredible story about a quartz lead at Mill Creek, 500 feet wide, 2,000 feet long, and paying $27 to the ton—in other words a mountain of quartz—but says all the miners of Mill Creek section will vouch for it. The 60-feet Comstock made and maintains the State of Nevada. What will a 600-feet lead do for Montana?

The latest about the stock war in southern Colorado is to the effect that one man has been arrested for driving away, in company with ten other men 1,700 sheep, scattering them over the plains for six miles, killing one hundred head and wounding many more. From the evidence it seemed clear that a league had been formed among the cattle men of that section for driving the sheep men out of the country.

The Laramie Sentinel sends up this Macedonian cry: "There is a fearful and terrible scarcity of girls in this country, not only for 'cooking purposes,' but we know of lots of young men who would even be willing to take them raw," and for life at that. We hope and trust the approaching Legislature will do something to encourage female immigration, if nothing more. As there are quite a large number who 'know how it is themselves' we have some hopes that the matter will be attended to.

The Corinne Reporter is informed that a sudden and fatal fever is perpetrating its ravages at Kelton and that six deaths have already occurred from it. It is as sudden as fatal and a person generally dies the same day that he is attacked. It is said that considerable alarm has been occasioned at Kelton by its presence, and that a number of citizens have fled from the city. The sudden death of the telegraph operator at that town Mr Preston, is announced as having occurred on Thursday from this disease. He survived but a few hours after taking it.

Somebody in Laramie Wyoming speaks his mind pretty freely in relation to the Governor of that Territory and propounds several questions to that gentleman through the medium of an advertisement in the Independent, which we surmise the editor hadn't the backbone to admit as a communication. He says: "As Governor Campbell may not be aware of the fact that he is entirely unfit for the office he holds and that the people of this Territory almost universally regard him as a gubernatorial fraud he is requested to state whether he will resign his position providing he be solicited to do so by nine tenths of the voters of Wyoming. Answer, yes or no."

AN EXPLANATION

DALLAS Sept 20 1873

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

A mendacious scribbler writing from this place under the nom de plume of "Ajax" has seen fit a couple of times recently to vent his spleen at me through the Bulletin and has persistently asserted that I am a deadly foe to everything that does not savor of animosity to the Senator with no name. While the Bulletin correspondent attacked me solely I was quite willing to pass him by with the contempt any anonymous slanderer merits but in his letter of the 25th inst he has seen fit to mix up the names of Governor Grover Judge Boise and B F Nichols Esq in the matter and to that article I ask the favor of presenting a brief reply through the columns of the OREGONIAN.

Ajax asserts that Messrs Boise and Nichols went to Portland last week for the purpose of bringing out a third candidate. As I am not a confessor of either of these gentlemen I cannot say what the object of their visit to Portland was but this I can and will say in justice to both of them that since the Albany Convention I have not spoken a dozen words on politics to either of them. That I had any connection with the O'Conor move in the last Presidential election is as devoid of truth as the balance of the communication for it is well known that both by my words and writings I was to the utmost of my humble ability a worker for the election of Horace Greeley the regular nominee of the National Democratic Convention. Ajax states it is well known here that Nichols went to Portland at Judge's instan[ce] [illegible] I must plead not guilty to the [illegible] of Ajax [illegible] until the return of Mr N from Portland I did not know of his absence from home. It is true that I left Independence at an early hour in the morning but my object was to catch the [illegible] A M train at Salem to settle some professional business I had there. That I fathered the Mitchell resolution at the State Democratic Convention may or may not be true but one thing is certain [illegible] that I worked and voted for its adoption, for which course I have received the endorsement of every honest moral man, both Republican and Democrat in Polk county. Thanking you for giving me space for this explanation, I am Yours truly,

Bids for fitting the roof on the State University will be received by the President of the Association J J Walton Jr, at Eugene City, until October 2d—next Thursday.

We learn with regret that Hon T R Cornelius is lying dangerously ill at his residence in Washington county of typhoid fever. His wife is but just recovering from a severe attack of the same disease.

The following will lead the military company lately formed at Eugene to glory and grandeur: Captain, William J Shipley; 1st Lieutenant J C Church 2d Lieutenant, A. R. Van Houten 1st Sergeant (Orderly), R. M. Robinson 2d Sergeant, Frank Harrington; [illegible] Sergeant, M D Harris; 4th Sergeant, R. R. [illegible] 5th Sergeant, J. M. Thompson, 1st Corporal, Jeff. Smith 2d Corporal, B C Pennington, [illegible] Corporal, George B Dorris; 4th Corporal, [illegible] Harrington."

On yesterday we had a call from Mr. J [illegible] Beaubien, who resides in Marion [illegible] about four miles south [illegible] of Aurora, who, we think, is entitled to rank among the champion onion [illegible] in Oregon. His experiment, during the past season, has been an eminently successful one, both financially and as showing the great productiveness of the lands in our State known as "[illegible] dam lands." Last spring Mr Beaubien [illegible] two and a-half acres of land of this [illegible] on the farm of George Dimick, and planted with onions of the early red and yellow [illegible] varieties. He has just gathered and [illegible] crop. The result from the two and a-half is 2,000 bushels of onions, sold at an [illegible] of 80 cents per bushel, equal to $1,[illegible] cost of seed, labor in [illegible] gathering and hauling to market and ground say $300 leaving a net profit of [illegible] on the crop. This is certainly a [illegible] good showing, and with such a sample of what can be done with our soil, the [illegible] Oregon should be proud to own and till it.

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 27, 1873.

AS TO PARTY FEALTY.

Elsewhere we publish an editorial article from the Boston Advertiser which is a pretty fair sample of the kind of political literature that is very much in favor with Massachusetts people just now. The Advertiser is one of the oldest and most reliable journals in the old Bay State. It is in the very best sense the leading Republican paper in New England. "Organs" are almost unknown there. On the contrary, independent journalism finds its fullest illustration and a hearty support among the "Brahmins" of Massachusetts. It must be confessed that the Advertiser's tone is very decided; it is almost defiant. Yet it was this robust, courageous voice of warning that summoned the best, the bluest blood of that State to Worcester on the 10th inst.

There is much in this bold sentiment that can be adopted by the Republicans of Oregon with profit. Its sturdy morality is akin to the enunciation of the Iowa Republican platform: that "public men should not be shielded from the disgrace of their acts" by true Republicans. This is the morale of the teachings of the OREGONIAN, so often assailed as heterodox Republicanism, or stigmatized under the epithet of "bolting." There is not a sound Republican in this State who cannot endorse the Iowa platform. For the true Republican, as his name indicates, esteems the affairs of State (res publica) above the mere organ of administration. More than that: the great majority of the party in Oregon possess the moral courage to enforce that doctrine on election day. Here, as in Massachusetts, Republicanism means lofty ideas of statesmanship, [illegible] devotion to the republic, fidelity in every public trust, the freedom of the [illegible], the supremacy of the law, justice, [illegible] and truth. Advocacy of this platform is the true test of Republicanism. [illegible] your Senators and your Congressmen [illegible] this touchstone. If they conform [illegible] then are they in fact representative Republicans, and no honest member of the party will withhold his support.

In the struggle now going on in all the [illegible] of this Union one of two things [illegible] happen: either the politicians will [illegible] up to higher ground or the people [illegible] sink to the level of the politicians. Which shall it be? From every part of [illegible] we receive the inspiring intelligence that the honest, thinking portion of the people of both political parties (and [illegible] the ruling class) have adopted this [illegible] rule of action—the unwritten and [illegible]ptible law whose teachings and [illegible] are superior to conventions, to [illegible] and to the dictations of faction. [illegible] not be misunderstood by anything we [illegible] we [illegible] the disorganiza[illegible] party in whose name [illegible] are summoned to sanction so[illegible] of the most iniquitous grade. [illegible] we plead for a purified Republican[illegible] will not countenance crime in [illegible] that has one standard for [illegible] and patrician—a party in whose [illegible] all [illegible] can rejoice, for whose [illegible] and principles all good citizens [illegible] can [illegible] vote without fraud and [illegible] hypocrisy. We understand with [illegible] very good people will temporarily yield the organization of the [illegible] into the hands of its usurpers. "All [illegible] hath shown," says the Declaration of Independence, "that mankind [illegible] to suffer while evils are [illegible] than to right themselves by [illegible] the forms to which they are accustomed."

We have, in times past, urged the enforcement in the pending campaign of [illegible] declaration of the Iowa platform [illegible] men should vote only [illegible] principles or abstain from any [illegible]. We can not afford to go back on [illegible]; no more can the people. [illegible] can be neither mistaken [illegible] understood. Perhaps it came unbidden. It was first forced upon us when [illegible] surgings of popular indignation swelled and surged against the doors of the national legislature, at the bare [illegible] of the frightful corruption of our [illegible]. More than the slow process [illegible] investigation, it wrenched [illegible] of the Credit Mobilier infamy [illegible] the unwilling lips of public servants [illegible] the steady gaze of constituen[illegible] the misdeeds of their representatives. Close upon the Credit Mobilier [illegible] the Caldwell and the Pomeroy [illegible], the brief labors of the [illegible] on the Louisiana difficulty. These laid bare unsounded depths [illegible] and judicial depravity, of [illegible] the [illegible], plodding on in the [illegible] of daily labor, and seldom stopping to bother their minds over complicated affairs of state, had not dreamed. [illegible] a sudden unveiling of private and official character, public opinion [illegible] to the terrible importance of the [illegible], smote in its anger many a national idol so that it fell. The thoughtful [illegible] which we have taken our [illegible] for a political reformation. The Advertiser asks, "Will other [illegible] take up the work?" Oregon will answer, two weeks from next Monday, in unmistakable [illegible].

THE OHIO CAMPAIGN.

The orators of the Ohio canvass are lagging [illegible]. Popular enthusiasm is lacking. The newspapers, even the most ultra [illegible], forget to punctuate speeches with the sharp exclamatory symbols which [illegible]ally serve as a cracker to florid paragraphs. Having met in Convention and denounced whatever of vice has cropped out in the party since they last spoke, the Republican majority retires to farms and counting rooms to reappear only on election day, leaving offenders to stomach its rebukes as best they may. The literature of the day would lose nothing if the speeches were entirely suppressed. Senator Morton goes forth on the war record of the party with occasional allusions to modern times. Senator Thurman follows with free trade and stale rehash of the charges against the Administration. The only incident worth mentioning occurred the other day at Dayton, when Morton took Thurman to account for repeating an old campaign slander against Attorney-General Williams, alleging that that officer had expended public funds for election purposes. A telegram from Mr. Williams was read in which he sharply critises Thurman for "garbling a report in a manner unworthy of a Senator," and dismisses the imputation of dishonesty with:—"There is not a shade of truth in Senator Thurman's intimation that the public money was expended by me for party purposes in the Presidential campaign." In his Athens speech, Mr. Morton said that "the Kellogg government receives the support and the sympathy of a large majority of the people of Louisiana." We may be excused for calling to mind that in March last, this same Senator, in the report of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, said of the Kellogg government that it was "without any foundation in law or logic," and that it "could only be characterized as a gross usurpation." The reminiscence is of no importance, however. Of course the Senator has a right to change his opinion when so minded.

"THEY ALL DO IT."

Several times heretofore we have called attention to the injustice done to our State by the declaration which is become almost the entire stock in trade of the apologists of the whitewashing resolution; we allude to the declaration that all men are unchaste in their private lives, and that the only difference between those who are guilty of social immoralities and those who affect to condemn them, is that the latter are not found out while the former are. Oregonians know this assertion is grossly untrue and unjust, and as truly so of the people of Oregon as of those of any other section of the Republic. And yet this slander upon a whole people, invented only to serve a bad cause in a desperate emergency, is having its effect abroad. The journals that publish the libel on the virtue of Oregon are doing abroad what they are unable to do at home, securing persons to credit their general charges of immorality against the people of Oregon, and thus building up for us a reputation among our sister States which may well cause the blush of shame to mantle the cheek of every Oregonian who travels in the Eastern States. An Eastern exchange, having obtained its ideas of Western morality from these "everybody-does-it" defenders of crime, sends out to its thousands of readers this sweet morsel:

> The indorsement of Senator Hipple by the Republican Convention of Oregon, meets the pretty nearly unanimous approval of the Republican press, who consider the resolution which passed that body as very fitting and appropriate. So do we. Hipple has changed his name without legal authority, it is true, but half of Oregon has done the same. It is considered impolite out in any of those new States to ask a man what was his name in the east. Senator Hipple deserted his wife and children in Pennsylvania, when he went west and left his financial affairs in rather a mixed state. But again half of a quarter of the Oregonians are popularly supposed to have done the same thing. One of the best and most reliable sources of immigration to the new States consists in the absconding of husbands, and it would be exceedingly impolitic for new statesmen to stop up this source of supply by harsh and discouraging reflections. Hon. Mr. Hipple [illegible] to have committed bigamy, but then a good portion of the men of Oregon have done that too. Though public opinion there does not exactly justify bigamy, yet it regards it leniently. To desert the wife of one's youth and marry a western slope girl to raise up a family with, is to experience one of those youthful "misfortunes, faults, or shortcomings," which ought not to prejudice people against a man's character in after life. Such being the state of popular feeling in Oregon, it is only "fitting and appropriate" that Senator Mitchell Hipple should not be condemned for merely doing what other people do. To condemn him would impliedly condemn too many other citizens of Oregon, and therefore the Republican Convention would not dare to do it.

The question now most prominently before the people of this State is, whether or not they will estop themselves from denying this untruth, by casting their votes in support of the "everybody-does-it" theory. Put it up as you will, this is the paramount question, and the election of Hiram Smith on the whitewashing resolution will be regarded, in other States, as pretty conclusive evidence of the truth of the assertion that people out here are a community of polygamists and debauchers.

THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

The dispatches announce the nomination by the President of Hon. Roscoe Conkling, of New York, to be the successor of the late Chief Justice Chase. Mr. Conkling is a United States Senator from New York, and a man of very marked ability. He comes of a race of lawyers, and enjoys the reputation of being a sound lawyer himself. His talent, however, has been most conspicuous in the field of oratory. He is a master of political debate.

The successor of Chase, and the man who sits in the seat of Jay and Marshall and Taney, should be no common man. Those great jurists have shed a luster upon American jurisprudence that will not fade while the Government stands. Wherever the common law is recognized, the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States are regarded as high authority. This is something to be proud of when we consider the youthfulness of legal science as applied to the peculiar state of affairs in this country.

Mr. Conkling is a Republican, and has been something of a politician; but let us hope his appointment is not intended as an acknowledgement of party obligations. As the New York Times well remarks, "the idea that the place can be conferred as a reward for party services cannot be entertained for a moment." The same journal commenting upon the demands of the office, a few days since, most considerately said:

> It will occur, moreover, to all right-minded men, that whoever accepts the position of Chief Justice ought to be prepared to put aside political ambition from that moment, and if for no other reason but this, that the office is great enough to satisfy all reasonable aspiration. None can be of higher dignity, none can give greater opportunity for lasting service to the country, none is of such secure tenure, none implies by its possession qualities of such eminence. But apart from these considerations, it is a matter of duty to the country that the Chief Justice should free his mind entirely from political ambition. His duties require that he should be as nearly impartial as a man can be, that he should be apart from and above the influences that arouse prejudice, cloud the judgment, and betray the sense of truth and justice. He cannot be so if he has an eye to political advancement. Even if he could be so, he cannot appear so, and in this case the appearance of evil is almost more harmful than the evil itself. It would be easy to point to facts of only too recent date to illustrate this view, but it is not necessary. No one will deny that a Chief Justice who longs to be President, cannot perform the full measure of his duty. This is a requirement of the case which the President cannot, of course, enforce. He can only take every possible precaution to insure a man whose character is a guaranty that he will faithfully recognize this prime condition of the appointment.

"TO THE VOTERS OF OREGON."

It is a harmless duodecimo pamphlet of eight pages, published by the Bulletin Publishing Company, of Portland, for gratuitous distribution. The five first pages are consecrated to an exegesis of the Albany platform. In a modest way the gentleman whose name is appended, informs the patient reader that he is not a public speaker by profession, and has therefore chosen to present "my views," by availing himself of the ventriloquial powers of Senator J. H. Mitchell and H. W. Scott, associate editor of the Bulletin. Mr. H. Smith has presented us with the Ophthalmic Platform. Really it is good for sore eyes. Briefly, "my views" are embodied in eleven amendments to the Albany platform. Of these, seven foreshadow what results certain "energies" (now held in reserve) will accomplish under a condition ("should I be elected,") so utterly unreasonable that we forbear extended notice; while four toll, with appropriate affectation of terseness, just where those Titanic "energies" will hibernate—just "what I won't do." Of the seven, the spray of the Wallamet dashes economically over the first, the next three have the genuine ring of railroad metal, while in all of the seven the work of the railroad ring sticks out very plainly. From the sixth the Cascades lock and dam enterprise projects. Hi is in favor of this, but we do not deem his platform quite as broad as that of his competitor, Nesmith, who avers that he is in favor of "damming every river that is worth a dam." Next comes a detailed description of what Hiram won't do. He will not consume the valuable time of Congress in talking, to the exclusion of General Butler, Mr. Shellabarger, et al. We believe Hiram, and we have the best of reasons for our belief. Then he will not vote for any grinding monopoly. Finally, he proposes to own Hi Smith in fee simple.

It occurs to us that if Hiram had been content with simply telling the people of Oregon just what he would not do in Congress we would have had a very accurate chart of his life for the next two years.

On the subject of an Indian policy Mr. Scott's, views are rather mixed—they might be termed half-breed. He thinks our Indian wards are treated with too much consideration. Or, as he has elegantly expressed it, they have "thousands of acres per head" while the down-trodden Caucasian writhes under the iron heel of a despotism which can be abolished only by a periodic distribution of reservations until each Indian shall boast of no more than six feet of land—for burial.

Perhaps our thrifty agrarian might suggest cineration of dead Indians so that five feet and eleven inches "per head" might be saved for purposes of railway subsidy.

Hiram woos the Protective Alliance in a straightforward protest against the Burlingame treaty.

Hiram "this year, raised twelve thousand bushels of grain." It would be cruel to call upon him to yield an employment so agreeable for a salary of fluctuating value. And Hiram expects "to do so annually hereafter." We have that reliant trust in the fixedness of Nature's laws and the constancy of propitious meteorological phenomena which enables us to believe that if Hiram manures his land and otherwise maintains a rigidity of the upper lip he will "do so annually hereafter"—by a large majority.

Drops the bucolic thought. Hush the voice to tender reverence while sombre shades of other and darker days come up from a little village on the other side of the Atlantic. There is a farmhouse embowered in rose vines; an artless girl scarce sixteen summers old; a libertine weaving his net around frail innocence with subtle care; a mother's love wrecked and shattered. And next, a felon flying from the face of man to hide his shame in "the wide, wide world." In his track, wherever he goes, are fraud, guile and deceit. He revels in his ill-gotten gold while the little ones who have hardly learned to call him father, cry for bread about his deserted hearthstone. Disowning his ancestry, a pariah and an outcast from one society, honored and esteemed by another whose gaze would be averted in fierce abhorrence were his tragic past all known, he stumbles to high position, Nemesis fierce and vengeful, delaying the fatal shaft until he takes his seat by the side of men who have breasted the foulest, fiercest floods of political corruption yet "kept their souls pure as the naked heavens." This is a bit of sentiment not to be found in Hiram's mosaic.

In the appendix to this pamphlet there is a supplementary platform adopted by the Albany Convention, Sept. 11th. The resolution endorsing bigamy is omitted.

At last after a week of protracted parturition behold the mouse! The one thing needful is to get it "endorsed." We can not help thinking if Hiram had been sole architect he would have given us something much more creditable to himself and profitable to the publishers. In justice to Mr. Smith we must say in closing that he is credited with having said, ex cathedra, that he is the ostensible author; "Mr. Scott and Senator Mitchell punctuated it." On the whole we are glad Hiram has got this thing off his mind. We see nothing now to hinder Senator Mitchell from attending to his duties as a member of the Senate Committee on Transportation Routes to the Seaboard.

The following statement of the earnings of the Erie Railway, for the correctness of which the New York Times vouches, "even though the managers are putting up iron cages around the accountants," will convey some idea of the enormous profits realized, and which have gone far to sustain Jay Gould in his costly operations. 1872, $12,167,239; 1873, $11,635,861, decrease, $541,188.

Rev. Mr. Murray, of Boston, denies that he killed a deer during the Summer. But the Providence Journal rejoins that Mr. Murray was the head of a large party in the Adirondacks, which party killed and—Mr. Murray aiding—ate ten deer. And in the killing the law of the State of New York was violated.

VIVIAN COMING.—Last evening we were shown a letter received by Mr George I De Pratti, from Charles Vivian This gentleman is now in Northern California coming this way Mr Vivian's troupe consists of the following artistes Mr Harry J Lask a pianist whose talents are highly spoken of by both press and public Madame Reifarth a vocalist of considerable merit Mr S W Mckenzie a ballad singer and Mr G W Jester the well known ventriloquist or man with the "Talking Hand" By the 1st prox the troupe will be in Yreka and in two weeks from date they expect to arrive in Portland After giving a series of parlor entertainments here the troupe will proceed to Victoria return via the Sound to Portland, and thence by steamer to San Francisco

ARRIVED.—The bark Free Trade under charge of Pilot Gilman, arrived in tow of the Josie McNear last night at 10 o'clock The Free Trade crossed the bar Thursday noon The weather has been very thick and foggy outside, and she had been a week trying to get in She reports seeing two other vessels outside but did not make them out The Free Trade was towed to Martin's Bluff by the Emma Hayward, where they met the Josie going down with the bark Windermere Owing to the strong east wind, which was blowing almost a gale, the Josie could not manage her huge tow and exchanging with the Hayward, came back with the Free Trade while the Hayward took the Windermere to sea

FROM HILLSBORO.—Our regular correspondent at that place writes under date of the 20th as follows

Nathan Westfall arrived at the Hillsboro fair grounds last night with his grey mare, Gazelle. A two year old colt belonging to Bigham, tore loose from a boy who was leading her around the track last evening, and ran up to her stable striking her foot against the tine of a pitchfork, inflicting a severe wound The colt is a very valuable one All hands are giving their horses "Hail Columbia" in expectation of Lodi. Various huckster stands are going up, beside those already built A couple of swings have arrived and are being put up

CAPTAIN ELECTED.—Last week Gen. M. V Brown issued an order for the holding of a special election by the City Rifles The object of the election was to supply a vacancy created by the resignation of Capt Alex Campbell Pursuant to orders, the election was held last evening at the Armory of the Rifles, Capt. Campbell presiding. Several aspirants for the position entered the field, but the choice of the members fell on Mr. Henry Thompson, who was declared Capt. Campbell's successor after a few ballots Mr Thompson is a young gentleman well known in this city He will no doubt make a competent and popular officer

WALL FELL DOWN.—During the prevalence of the high winds yesterday afternoon, a portion of the walls of Protection Co No. 4's old building, suddenly and without warning, came tumbling down Fortunately no one was within reach, although a number of persons were working in the immediate vicinity A team and wagon had been left standing near the brick walls, and when the brick began [illegible] the horses sprung forward. They just [illegible] "saved their bacon," but the wagon was badly broken by the falling debris.

TIME ALLOWED.—As no complaint can be filed after ten days previous to the convening of the Circuit Court, attorneys are commencing to prepare their pleadings and to file the same in the office of the County Clerk A number of new cases have been added to the docket within the last week. No complaints can be filed after Saturday, October 4th, in the Clerk's office and be placed on the calendar for the fall term of Circuit Court In all civil [illegible] the defendant is allowed ten days in which to answer a complaint

THE SYNOD OF THE PACIFIC.—This Synod embraces the States and Territories on the Pacific coast, and will meet in San Francisco October 7th It is one of the thirty-five Synods belonging to the Presbyterian Church, a notice of which we gave yesterday Dr. Lindsley will leave next week by the overland route to attend the session Mrs Lindsley will accompany him Notice will be given of the supply of the Doctor's pulpit during his absence

NEW COMPANY.—Col A P Dennison has just received official notification of the organization of a new military company at Eugene City Forty men have been enrolled and the officers elected Wm. J. Shipley has been elected Captain The necessary papers were received yesterday by Col Dennison, and the required arms and accoutrements will be forwarded in a few days This new company is said to be in a flourishing condition

TO BE RAFFLED.—Mr. E. T Coleman, the artist, is canvassing the city to obtain names, as he is desirous of raffling off three elegant paintings executed by him There are 75 chances at $2 each The paintings are really meritorious, and they are offered at a bargain Mr Coleman proposes soon to take his departure for California, and the pictures are to be raffled in order to enable him to visit that State

THE CONCERT.—Extensive preparations are being made by the members of the Portland Hebrew Benevolent Society for the grand concert which will come off on next Thursday evening under the auspices of that organization Rehearsals are held every two nights at the Progress Club rooms by the musicians who have kindly volunteered to assist on that occasion

TRI-WEEKLY SERVICE.—We are informed that it is the intention of the O S N Co, next week, to inaugurate a tri-weekly passenger service between Dalles and Umatilla Passengers will leave Portland Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and will go through to Umatilla the same evenings without stopping at the Dalles

OVERHAULED.—The O S N Co's steamer Idaho is lying at the Dalles undergoing sundry repairs Since the Daisy Ainsworth has been placed on the Dalles Cascades route the Idaho has been receiving a general overhauling of engines and machinery and will be repainted inside and out before resuming the line

SCRAPING.—Yesterday the steamer Hal was lying at Flanders wharf The vessel was "listed" thus exposing a considerable portion of the hull which was being cleared of the barnacles scraped and washed The interior of the steamer was also being [illegible] out preparatory to receiving the [illegible]

POLL BOOKS.—The County [illegible] and his deputies are busily engaged making out poll books for the coming State election the 13th prox Each precinct in the county is to be furnished with two copies which will be sent to the judges of the election a few days before the election is held

TO OPEN.—Next Monday Messrs Jos Kohn & Co and Walter P [illegible] will vacate the stores they now occupy on Front street and on the same day open their new stores on First street We shall have more to say of the change in Monday's issue.

STEAMER IDAHO.—This steamer is now in port, having arrived from Kalama on Thursday evening All her cargo was discharged before she left Kalama She will carry away from Portland a cargo of wheat for San Fran-

BOILER TESTED.—James Lotan, U S Inspector of Boilers, tested the boiler on the steam ferry boat Katie Ladd last evening as the certificate expired yesterday The boiler was subjected to a hydrostatic pressure of 150 pounds to the square inch which was withstood without starting a bolt The certificate was renewed

HANDSOME PRESENT.—Mr I B Harrington presented the City Rifles with a beautiful oil painting of the Coat of Arms of the United States a few days since The picture is about three and a half by five feet in size and is valued at $75

EXAMINATION.—The examination of teachers for Multnomah county will take place to-day at the Central School building Applicants will provide writing materials and present themselves at 9 o'clock A M

FASHION NOTES.

Spa is crowded with Americans They lately tendered a reception to the Queen of the Belgians

Tufted camels' hair is a new material for winter polonaise—the form of the camel also being observed

Ladies are beginning to use colored starch for their ruffs as did the beauties of the court of good Queen Bess

Jewelry of cut steel is coming into fashion again some very pretty [illegible] has been imported in this material

Large treille roses will be used in trimming the somber-colored bonnets which are to be fashionable next winter

There is a rumor that [illegible] are to replace the traditional white for bridal dresses which report we do not believe

Brown is a fashionable color for ladies' note paper We have some new freak in this line to record every other day

Long waists tight sleeves and high ruffs will be the distinguishing characteristic of feminine street garments next winter

Pompons aigrettes and ornaments of cut steel will be worn on the very front of the bonnets of the winter a fashion suggested by the Shah

Appearances are that purple will be the prevailing color in street costumes this season just as brown was last spring and rifle green last winter

A funny freak of fashion is the sudden disfavor into which diamonds have fallen "Shoddy" is the mildest term now applied to them by the whilom worshippers

One young lady at Saratoga creates a sensation by wearing diamond buckles in her shoes She is awfully careful about holding her dress up when the walking is wet or dirty

Fringes of every description will be much in vogue next winter—fringes entirely jet sewing silk fringe bullion fringe tassel fringe crimped tape fringe and heavy wool fringes will all be worn

French blues are much imported for fall wear They suit blondes and brunettes equally well The shades are black blue "Bleu" "Tournaline" Mandarin "Ruxine" "Hirondelle" and "Canard"

LETTER FROM SALEM

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

SALEM, Sept 25 1873

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The last week has been a good one for all branches of business an improvement brought about by the abundant crop and the good prices for the same From all directions of the surrounding country wagon loads of wheat are continually coming in At times the teams commence arriving early in the morning and continue late into the evening I learn that Messrs R C Kinney & Co have purchased about 200,000 bushels of wheat and they have not yet finished purchasing

Since my last we have been aroused at all hours of the night by

FIRE ALARMS,

All, evidently caused by incendiarism In every instance but one, the buildings destroyed were old and worthless In that one fire was set to a large wood pile, but did no damage further than to destroy about a half cord of wood But it was the cause of an immense amount of genuine swearing among a portion of this naturally moral community

The Executive Committee of the Oregon Agricultural Society are making preparations for

THE COMING STATE FAIR

And the Secretary says he has assurance that the exhibition in several departments especially stock will be superior to any heretofore had while all the other departments will be, in every respect, quite up the average

Mr W C Myer, who lives in Southern Oregon, will exhibit several head of the celebrated Percheron horses that came originally from France He will have several colts which he has bred in this State

Mr S G Reed John Minto, J I Parrish and others will also exhibit their various specialties in stock and some will be as good as can be produced in any country It is to be desired by all who wish the State to progress that they attend and, if possible contribute something to be exhibited Work is now being pushed forward, as rapidly as possible on the

STATE HOUSE

But the great amount of work that is required to make a little showing, causes many to think that it is progressing very slowly The dressed stone work is now all laid and makes a fine appearance

THE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION

Is still in session and seems to be considerably annoyed in not receiving the Assessors' books from the various counties as punctual as they desire Not more than one half of the counties have yet reported although two or three weeks behind the time designated by law But the Board is composed of sedate elderly gentlemen who are sociable and ornamental if they have not [illegible] an opportunity to display as yet their talent in adjusting the question of taxes

On Wednesday the Chief Engineer of the Salem Fire Department returned from an extended trip to the Palouse country On his arrival he was appropriately serenaded and called upon by the entire Department in uniform at his residence at 10 o'clock in the evening When the Chief appeared he was welcomed by one of the firemen in a few well chosen remarks which was responded to by our Jasper in his usual felicitous manner winding up by an invitation to all to walk in and take a wee drop which invitation was accepted with cheers After a short time spent there in exchange of greetings the firemen went down town and soon were called to duty by an alarm of fire which proved to be only a pile of shavings but sufficient to give them a run

On next Monday the fall session of the Institute for the Blind will commence under the direction of Miss Simpson a very estimable young lady who organized and taught the school last spring and summer Miss Simpson is herself blind and was educated in an institution in a seminary in the Eastern States She is well qualified for the duties of a teacher There are some thirty four of the unfortunates in this State but several of them are grown

THE BATTALION OF [illegible]

Are now in session in the city

In regard to the noted [illegible] the State Superintendent of the Penitentiary I will say something next week and see [illegible]

The political cauldron is boiling but amid the excitement attending the present canvass our merchants are laying in large stocks of fall and winter goods Among the number we observed yesterday Messrs BECK & WALDMAN opening several cases of men and boys clothing The new hat for [illegible] is a [illegible] They keep them as well as other goods for [illegible] Be sure to call to-day

A LARGE VOLUME would not contain the mass of testimony which has accumulated in favor of DR WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY as a safe efficient and reliable remedy in curing coughs colds and pulmonary disease Many of the cures are truly wonderful

OUT DOOR SPORTS.

A convention of base ball players will be held at Buchtel's gallery this evening for the purpose as we understand of organizing a State Base Ball Association Messrs J C McCully Geo Belt and Preston Smith were chosen at a late meeting of the College Club as delegates to represent that club in the convention

Another picked nine under the command of Harry McCraken has been formed with the intention of defeating the Pioneers The nine consists of Matthews catcher McCraken pitcher R Bird 1st base Al Balogh 2d base Budger 3d base Wiles short stop Cushing left field Oliver center field and Mercer right field The above are the nine as at present named though there is a probability that it will be materially changed before the game comes off The game will commence at 2 P M to-day on the base ball ground

Base ball is undoubtedly good exercise and capital amusement but it often occasions bunged eyes broken skin and blistered hands We can tell you that in all such cases if [illegible] is used it will reduce the swelling and stop the pain

We would not recommend the frequent or constant use of any medicine It is important to take even a good cathartic pill rarely Parsons' Purgative Pills are safe prompt and reliable as a laxative or cathartic

FOR COUGHS AND THROAT DISORDERS use Brown's Bronchial Troches having proved their efficacy by a test of many years

A Good Thing Duly Appreciated.

No beneficial revolution ever goes backward and this maxim is as invariable in medicine as in politics The advent of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters twenty years ago produced a revolution in the treatment of a large class of ailments and that revolution has ever since been in the full tide of successful experiment If that tide has borne the proprietors of the celebrated vegetable specific on to fortune it has also borne thousands of human beings who were languishing under the effects of disease weak and hopeless out of the depths of despondency into the paradise of health and cheerfulness It is no exaggeration to say that to the vigor the regularity of habit of body the good appetite and perfect digestion acquired under the operation of this unequalled tonic and corrective multitudes of people in every walk of life who had been vainly physicked in the usual way owe the blessings of renewed health and the prospect of prolonged life.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr J S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its [illegible] having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY [illegible], and SEMINAL WEAKNESS It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings and cures them by its alterative, healing and [illegible] properties [illegible] than any other known remedy

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U S Marine Hospital in San Francisco in 1871 and 1872, where he had unrivaled facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy and its uses It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 465 Kearney street, San Francisco

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful yet harmless febrifuge and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies of those diseases are entirely avoided

FOR PHYSICIANS Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

"ROCK OF AGES."

[Seldom have we read a sweeter illustration of the thoughtless and expert [illegible] way of singing this beautiful hymn [illegible] that which is embodied in the following [illegible] verses [illegible] from an ex[illegible]

Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Thoughtlessly the maiden sung
Fell the words [illegible]
From her [illegible] tongue
Sang as little children sing—
Sang as [illegible] the birds in June
Fell the words like [illegible] leaves [illegible]
On the current [illegible]
Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee

Let me hide myself in Thee
Felt her soul no need to hide
Sweet the song as [illegible]
And she [illegible]
All the words [illegible]
Fell from lips [illegible]
Dreaming [illegible]
On some other lips a prayer
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee

Rock of Ages, cleft for me—
'Twas a woman sung [illegible]
Rose the song as [illegible]
Beats with weary wing the air
Every note with sorrow stirred
Every syllable a prayer—
Rock of Ages, cleft for me
Let me hide myself in Thee

"Rock of Ages cleft for me,
Lips grown aged sung the hymn
Trustingly and tenderly
Voice grown weak and eyes grown dim
Let me hide myself in Thee."
Trembling through the voice and low—
Ran the sweet strain peacefully
Like a river in its flow
Sung as only they can sing
Who life's thorny path have trod
Sung as only they can sing
Who behold the promised rest—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me
Let me hide myself in Thee

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me
Sung above a coffin lid
Underneath all restfully
All life's joys and sorrows hid
Nevermore, O storm tossed soul
Nevermore from wind or tide
Nevermore from billows' roll
Wilt thou need to hide
Could the sightless, sunken eyes,
Closed beneath the soft gray hair
Could the mute and stiffened lips
Move again in pleading prayer,
Still aye still, the words would be
"Let me hide myself in Thee.

AN ORACLE OF THE ORIENT

STORY WITH A MORAL

[By [illegible] V [illegible]

Abou ben-Adhem, the [illegible], was in not good humor He was away from his home, and [illegible] sadly the comforts and conveniences of his tent He was out of place and was as unhappy as a faro dealer would be in a prayer meeting, or a lobster in hot [illegible]. The dwellers in Fifth avenue, used to the conveniences of modern civilization, would not be comfortable in the simple tent of the [illegible] so, likewise, the Persian was not [illegible] able in the gorgeous room of a hotel at [illegible], which he was occupying When the heat became insupportable, he could not [illegible] the bottom of the cloth and get a good [illegible] he had to depend on a raised win[dow]

"They talk of improvement" said Abou to [illegible] asbestos panting out of the aperture, [illegible] "Has the world made [illegible] Is this hole better than all out of [illegible]

[illegible] he was thus musing in an irritable [illegible] of mind that a stranger entered, [illegible] of all things in the world, was precisely [illegible] Abou did not want.

[illegible] is the matter with you, my buck?" [illegible] unceremoniously dropping into the [illegible] style of [illegible]

"[illegible] Abou," said the stranger, "I would [illegible] with you. I would be perfect I would [illegible] my mind that truth would ever be in [illegible] This is what I [illegible] for—truth."

[illegible]" replied Abou [illegible], "[illegible] that you are an ass, would be a very [illegible] of your condition But I will [illegible] on you. Listen,

[illegible] gone by, never to return, I was [illegible] in Ispahan I was the son of [illegible], who sent me to the school of [illegible], to be instructed in [illegible] held and taught, as a very [illegible] that truth, absolute and undeniable [illegible] all times and that untruth, could it be safely de[illegible] I believed him, and went out [illegible] to practice his teachings

"[illegible] a aunt, who had property to [illegible] I would be heir, and [illegible] had [illegible] particularly in instructing [illegible] and honor her. Woe is me that [illegible], whom may seven thous[and illegible] I was at her house just [illegible] received this [illegible] from that prince [illegible] Everything was propitious for me [illegible]-one, and had a cough that [illegible] her to pieces; and to make it absolutely [illegible] that she could not live long, she [illegible] physicians in attendance upon her [illegible] leaving all her [illegible] to [illegible] of the bulbul was not more pleasant [illegible] to my ears than that cough, and the three [illegible] were more pleasant to my eye than [illegible]

"On the morning in question, I found her [illegible] in the fashion plates of the Lady's [illegible] of that period. My son then is a [illegible] in gar[illegible] no woman ever gets be[illegible] It is a provision of na[ture] that a fashion plate delights a feminine [illegible] so long as it is encased in a feminine [illegible]. My aunt was reclining on a sofa, and [illegible] She had on a pink moire [illegible] moire antique, cut bias down [illegible] with heart-shaped bodice, low in the [illegible] and with short sleeves trimmed with [illegible] It was a dress appropriate for a [illegible] lady of fifteen, with flesh on her [illegible]

"[illegible]" said she, with a [illegible] head grin [illegible] paralytic shake of the head, 'doth not [illegible] accord with my style of beauty?'

I was about to reply like a man of the world [illegible] the precept of Biohard whom may fire [illegible] come to me.

"I am sure it does not aunt!" I replied "You are too fearfully old and ugly for such a [illegible] The beauty of the apparel calls un[illegible] tion to your general ghastliness, you are too bony for such dry goods and the [illegible] of aids to your horrible bonines [illegible] of hiding it. A skeleton—no matter [illegible] a skeleton it may be should never [illegible] low in the neck, for shoulder [illegible] when seen to be forcing their way [illegible] saffron-colored skin are never pleas[illegible] to look upon Now, aunt, in all candor I [illegible] that, instead of dressing yourself [illegible] in place, you swathe your remains [illegible] thus compelling art to furnish what nature has denied, a sufficient covering for your bones It is absurd for a hideous old virgin like yourself to ape the style of a girl of [illegible] Go to vain old woman! instead of in dulging in such vanities prepare for death which stands waiting for you

"The old lady did not appreciate my truthfulness. She flew at me like an attenuated tiger, and called me a fool and a beast and ordered me out of the house. The excitement was so great that she fell into a fit of coughing, which killed her She lived however long enough to alter her will leaving every [illegible] of her estate to the Society for the con[version] of the French to Mohammedanism I [illegible] saw a cent of it

"This was somewhat discouraging but I de[termined] to persevere Biohard had dwelt so strongly on the necessity of absolut truth that I could not think of going back on it So I gritted my teeth and waded in

"I had an uncle, a very rich man who was afflicted with poetry He was troubled with the idea that he was a poet and spent the bulk of his time backing away at it He had finished a poem of thirty six cantos and he invited me to hear it

"'My son' said he I have confidence in your taste and judgment Now I am going to show this poem to you and shall abide your judgment If you say it is good I shall so esteem it and publish it if you say bad I shall accept the decision and burn it

"'Fire away,' I answered in the Oriental style, which is more fervid than your form of utterance in this deliberate and unimpassioned West.

"The old gentleman read and read and [illegible] I struggled manfully to keep awake and succeeded When he got through he [illegible]

"'Your honest judgment, my son

"I determined to give an honest opinion but I said to myself I will draw it mild I will treat him tenderly

"'Uncle,' said I the poem may have merits but I fail to discover them It is defective in rhythm, utterly and entirely devoid of sentiment, and atrocious in design A more stupid [illegible] less performance I was never bored with It is idiocy—it is deliberate idiocy It was con[ceived] in weakness and brought forth in insanity I would for your sake that I could call it lunacy but it lacks the strength and fire that an overturned intellect would have given it It is drool It is drivel For the sake of your family do not publish it

"I did not expect this criticism to [illegible] the [illegible] I had [illegible] it [illegible] entirely [illegible] just But it did [illegible] the old gentle man pleasantly at all He glared at me a moment fiercely [illegible] filled me to [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] fool trash

[illegible] that his perception was [illegible] and [illegible] entire speech [illegible] [illegible] that [illegible] ever [illegible] I [illegible] and [illegible] me was that [illegible] the truth [illegible] to the truth [illegible] [illegible] from [illegible] breath

And finally I came to blows with [illegible] myself He [illegible] and [illegible] lecture he had delivered and I told [illegible] I thought as he had instructed me I only remarked that the badness of the thought was only equalled by the badness of the execution and that both together were exceeded by the badness of the delivery [illegible] instead of thanking [illegible] he flew at me [illegible]

My son truth is not the highest word in an ordinary hands but silence is Only very rich men can afford to speak the truth around recklessly Truth is too precious for every day use When a rich man says I am a plain blunt man, and am used to speaking the simple truth—I call things by their right name I do—set him down as a disagreeable old brute who goes about making people uncomfortable because he can do it safely When a poor man says the same, put him down as a fool I do not advise lying but beware of too free use of the truth It needs to be handled judiciously Were the world perfect—were everybody as free from weakness as, for instance myself it would answer for truth would then be pleasant but as it is beware of it

Silence my ingenious friend is your best hold Silence will conceal the fact that you are an inferior being and will offend nobody Let silence be your rule—speech the exception Then shall you prosper and be counted one of the wise But leave me now, for I would rest."

And Abou after the manner of the Eastern sages, mixed him in a tumbler the strong waters of the Giaour with lemon and sugar and very little water, for the water of Trenton is not good, and swallowed it saying "be chesm it is good. It warms the midriff and makes one charitable For an excuse to repeat I would be willing, almost to heave out another chunk of wisdom

And with this Oriental ejaculation he clambered into bed

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

FRIDAY EVENING September 26 1873

Gold in New York to-day 112¼

Portland Legal Tender rates 87½ buying, 88½ selling

Gold bars are quotable at 725@750 fine

Exchange on San Francisco ½ of 1 per cent discount.

No Liverpool Wheat quotations by telegraph to day

The New York Gold market continues quite steady notwithstanding the disturbing element working there so vigorously during the past fortnight. The Commercial List says there is the best reason for believing that nothing in the financial condition of the country, nothing in its foreign trade or its business relations, and nothing in the prospects for the immediate future, is calculated to enhance the price of Gold Yet the doubts and uncertainties in regard to the future of the premium introduce a baffling element into business calculations, which is rather prejudicial to the foreign branch of our commerce Exchange continues unsettled and dull An active demand prevails for money and with the aggregate bank [illegible] drawn down to or below the legal limit, and with a pretty active drain to the West for crop moving purposes, the market is firm All the essential conditions of trade continue to point to a successful season. The imports though pretty free of late, still keep below last year's figures, while our exports continue to show a most gratifying increase Nor is there any reason why this favorable state of trade should not continue till the adverse foreign balance shall be wholly wiped out Rarely indeed has the yield of the staple products of the country been more generous, or the foreign demand for them so well assured Western Europe is beyond a doubt very short of food staples and this will insure a fair average return to our Grain producers which at once lays the foundation of an active trade in all departments. Already an immense aggregate of Wheat Corn and Flour has been laid under contribution to shippers for the Autumn months, and though prices have reacted a little from the highest point with Gold it seems altogether probable that the average is destined to continue considerably higher than last year the quality of the wheat alone being several cents per bushel better than the crop of 1872 Of course the deficiency of the European harvests is not general, Russia being among the countries having a liberal surplus Therefore those who look for extreme prices are likely to be disappointed Great famines are not common in modern times because means of transportation are good and the surpluses of some places are promptly sent to those other places in which crops fail But it is safe to conclude that our Western farmers will realize a better profit on their products even after deducting heavy charges of the transportation companies than they received last year. There are also indication that somewhat better prices will prevail for hog products, which for the last two or three years have figured so largely in the export trade In fact all our export staples, with the single exception of petroleum promises fair returns to the producers and it is morally certain that the outward trade will be so heavy as to tax the tonnage supply to its utmost capacity and thus insure a high ruling of freight for an indefinite period

It is reported that the German Government has subscribed for $5,000 000 additional new five per cent. United States bonds making altogether $1[illegible] 000 000 subscribed for by that Government.

The Dry Goods Market.

The fall season is now in full operation and every department of dry goods is reported fairly active and satisfactory though there are doubtless over sanguine if not unreasonable dealers who do not find the demand quite as brisk or the sales as large as they had anticipated But we believe these are exceptional instances The jobbers are generally busy and importers and wholesale men make no special complaint Prices are generally firm but unchanged except for Oregon woolen goods which have had a fractional tendency downward and a few makes of standard sheetings which have experienced a trifling advance The business in progress is of a healthy character and we hear of very little speculative movement

Foreign of all descriptions are in full supply with an active demand but the sales are mostly for seasonable goods such as merino and fine grades of wool ens and plain black and colored silks The offerings of millinery goods would seem to indicate very large stocks but this class of goods depreciates so rapidly in value as the season [illegible] that importers [illegible] early [illegible]

Home Produce Market

The condition of [illegible] has evidently [illegible] during the past week [illegible]

[illegible]

To-day prices are without important change in any branch of our market

The piled on piles of Wheat which occupy nearly all the available storeroom on our wharves and in our warehouses seem enormous and it will require several vessels to move what is now in hands of exporters here. There are probably now stored in this city and East Portland nearly six thousand tons.

Shipping Intelligence

The steamer [illegible] has arrived at this port last night from Kalama where she has been unloading 60 tons [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] freight she brought 14 tons for this city which [illegible] transferred to the steamer Senator [illegible] Kalama [illegible]. She will depart for San Francisco [illegible] Monday [illegible] Tuesday [illegible]

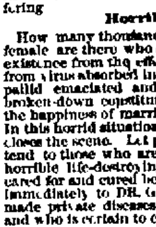
NEW REMEDIES NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.



623 KEARNEY STREET NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness Impotency etc Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those physicians

Seminal Weakness

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz. Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained at once, apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are living under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to every patient a written instrument, binding to effect a radical and permanent cure, or no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon, stating the symptoms, length of time the disease has [illegible] and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the [illegible] with full and plain directions. By [illegible] Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells Fargo & Co. a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates [illegible] the unwary Some of these self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, [illegible] carriers intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many [illegible] for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patients letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he professes to cure

Address DR J F GIBBON 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial San Francisco, Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN
